

South Florida High-Yield Multifamily

Five 8%+ Cap-Rate Opportunities | Curated June 2026

Presented by Savings RE / United Realty Group

The Thesis

South Florida multifamily is one of the most cap-rate-compressed markets in the country — most small assets trade at 5–6% and many never publish a yield. A verified 8%+ cap rate is rare. The five below were pulled from a current county-wide screen of Palm Beach, Broward, and Miami-Dade, each a stabilized or light value-add play in the buyer-friendly 5–25 unit range.

The Short List

NO. 1 ~9.4% est. cap	Fort Lauderdale (Central) 6-unit value-add Price band: $1.0M – $1.5M Highest yield on the list. Roughly $200K/unit basis with in-place rents trailing market — a straightforward light-renovation lift to push the cap higher.
NO. 2 ~8.9% est. cap	Miami Gardens 18-unit condo / flex income Price band: $2.0M – $2.5M Largest income base here: 18 individually-deeded units with office/flex revenue at ~$128K/unit, plus optionality to hold as a portfolio or sell down over time.
NO. 3 ~8.8% est. cap	Fort Lauderdale (Progresso) 5-unit, turnkey Price band: Under $1.0M Fully renovated and turnkey in a fast-gentrifying urban-core pocket. Sub-$1M entry makes it the most accessible day-one cash-flow play on the list.
NO. 4 ~8.6% est. cap	Fort Lauderdale 9-unit value-add Price band: $1.0M – $1.5M Nine units at roughly $145K/unit with in-place income and clear rent upside in a supply-constrained rental submarket.
NO. 5 ~8.4% est. cap	Lake Worth Beach 10-unit income Price band: $2.5M – $3.0M Ten-unit income asset in a coastal-adjacent, high-demand submarket — the most scale on the list for a buyer wanting double-digit units in one ticket.

Cap rates are broker-reported estimates on in-place or projected income and are rounded. Addresses, names, and exact pricing intentionally withheld.
